Science shows that men will continue [illegible], barring catastrophe, at least [illegible] years more.

Council Says Prison Board Rate Unfair

DIRECTS CITY SOLICITOR TO ASK FOR BIDS

Officials Will Try To Negotiate Smaller Charge with Another Jail

CONTRACT CRITICIZED

Provisions of Agreement Unreasonable, Councilmen Charge

Branding as unfair the rate asked by Marion County Commissioners for the board of city prisoners at the County Jail, City Council last night authorized Solicitor George T. Geran to solicit bids from jails outside the county.

Despite the fact that the law permits the sheriff to charge only the exact cost of the meals served prisoners, which has been given by Sheriff James Deal as 16 2-3 cents, the county commissioners, according to the city solicitor, are asking 25 cents a meal and also that a prisoner shall be charged with three meals regardless of the hour he is taken to the jail.

As explained by the solicitor, the contract which has been submitted to the city, provides that if a prisoner is taken to the county jail at 11:30 o'clock at night and released before breakfast the next morning, the city will be charged with two days keep or six meals.

Unfair, Charge

This, it is maintained by city council, is decidedly unfair, and it is possible that, should efforts to obtain a satisfactory contract with other jails in surrounding counties prove unsuccessful, arrangements will be made to keep those prisoners arrested under a city ordinance, at the city prison. Prisoners arrested under a state law are kept at the county jail at the expense of the state.

Those arrested for intoxication, disorderly conduct and other minor offenses are usually tried under city ordinances while violations of the liquor law, are sometimes tried under state and city laws. Fines in cases tried under the state law are divided between the county and state, while all fines collected under city ordinances are paid into the city treasury. Costs in all cases, however, are received by the city.

The contract in question also provides that the city shall bear the cost of any medical attention the prisoner receive or the cost of any operation. The county, however, will provide a shave twice a week and a hair cut every two weeks to male prisoners.

TWO DEMOCRATS TO ENTER COUNTY RACE

Announce They Will Be Candidates for Posts of Commissioner

Two Democrats entered the race for county commissioner, yesterday, the first representative of their party to announce their candidacy for that office.

They are H. W. Beaver, Marion Township, and Charles R. Harrison, Claridon Township. They took out nomination papers at the county board of elections office and stated that they would file their declarations of candidacy in the near future.

Both men are farmers and lifelong residents of the county. In addition to farming, Harrison is engaged in the livestock business. He was a candidate for commissioner four years ago.

Others who previously announced their candidacy for commissioner are O. W. Kinnamon, W. M. King and O. J. Hord, present members of the board, and G. W. Hinamon. All are Republicans.

Three commissioners are to be elected, two for four-year terms and one for two years to fill out the unexpired term of the late John N. Rexroth.

COUPLE CELEBRATES

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Miller Observe Sixty-Fifth Wedding Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. M. L. MILLER, 200 Patterson-st, today are celebrating their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Alice Staley, 138 S. Seffner-av, where they have been making their home for the last month on account of illness. The day also marks the eighty-second birthday anniversary of Mr. Miller. The day is being spent quietly on account of the health of the celebrants, both of whom are convalescing from severe attacks of cold and grip.

Mr. Miller, who is a veteran printer attended to his duties as a printer with The Marion Star where he has been employed for 32 consecutive years, until a few weeks ago when he was taken ill.

MELLON SWEARS HE REFUSED TO ACCEPT BONDS

Secretary of Treasury Tells Committee That He Didn't Like Hays Plan

Washington, March 13—Andrew W. Mellon, multi-millionaire Secretary of the Treasury, told the Senate Public Lands Committee under oath today how he had refused to trade a $50,000 check to the Republican National Committee in return for $50,000 of Harry F. Sinclair's Liberty Bonds.

ANDREW MELLON

Mellon said that Will H. Hays, Republican national chairman in 1923, approached him with the offer of a trade. The secretary said he rejected it.

A tremendous crowd jammed the little committee room. Many women were present. Former Gov. Henry J Allen of Kansas, Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the late President Wilson, and John Walsh, brother of the senator, had front seats.

First Witness

Mellon was the first witness to arrive. As the hearing was late getting under way, Mellon lighted one of his special "Pittsburgh stogies" and puffed contentedly.

William M. Butler, President Coolidge's campaign manager in 1924 and now Republican national chairman, arrived along with members of the Senate committee.

EXCHANGE TO PROBE CONDITION OF STOCK

Radio Corporation May Be Removed from Board If Corner Exists

New York, March 13 — A sensational 21½ point jump in Radio Corporation stock at the beginning of trading today, bringing the price of the stock up 65 points within the week, was the market's emphatic testimony of the severe punishment administered to the bears by the victorious and powerful bullish clique which has been sponsoring the market movements of the stock.

New York, March 13—The New York Stock Exchange today set in motion machinery to determine if a "free and open market" exists in the stock of the Radio Corporation of America. If it is found that a corner exists in the stock, it will face removal from the big board's trading lists.

All members of the stock exchange have received from the business conduct committee a demand to furnish each day definite information relative to the buying and selling of Radio Corporation stock through their offices. Questionnaires mailed to the members ask for the following information:

The aggregate long and short positions of the members and their customers in Radio Corporation stock; the number of shares borrowed and from whom; the number of shares loaned and to whom.

Before the opening of the market today, Radio Corporation was "loaning flat" in the loan crowd, which means that borrowers of the stock received no interest on the money deposited with the lender as security for the stock. Only through this borrowing process are the shorts in a position to "make delivery" on stock sold short on the stock exchange.

MARION ELATED OVER PROSPECT OF LEADERSHIP

Favorable Comment Heard Throughout City on Civic Meeting Held Here

PLAN FOR BANQUET

Citizens Generally Pleased with "Shots" of Editor; Agree with Speaker

Marion's citizenship was elated today over the prospects for a more active leadership in the city, the result of the civic meeting held here yesterday noon under the auspices of the Rotary Club and addressed by Grove Patterson, Toledo Blade editor.

A more active leadership has been seen as one of the city's greatest needs for several years, but it was not until yesterday that citizens, stirred by Patterson's talk, began to examine the city's conscience.

What particularly pleased Marionites, it was said today, were the "true shots" taken at the city by Patterson. Acting as a civic doctor Patterson refused to administer sugar-coated pills, he said, but gave his hearers large doses of "bitter-truth" medicine.

Plan for Banquet

The committee headed by Judge George B. Scofield authorized to make plans for a great civic banquet to be held in the near future, is now at work on its assignment, it was said today.

Much comment was heard throughout the city after Patterson's talk. Among the comments received by The Star were the following:

Emery Murphy, president of City Council: "This movement for placing Marion's development under the direction of a centralized body representing all interests is something which the city has needed for years. If kept alive and vigorous, it is certain to accomplish a great amount of good. I am certain that City Council and all other municipal departments will join heartily in the project and do their share in the work of promoting Marion's progress. At this time the city government is not provided liberally with funds, but the resources which are available will, I am sure, be used to assist in this project."

STATE SCHOOL HEAD IS SPEAKER HERE

J. A. Clifton, Columbus, Addresses City Teachers' Association Meeting

"The Competent Teacher" was the subject of an interesting address given by J. A. Clifton, Columbus, state school superintendent, at a meeting of members of the City Teachers Association last night at the ballroom, Hotel Harding. More than 150 teachers were in attendance.

"The competent teacher first of all must be a worth-while person, human, with an understanding of children and possessing the quality of leadership. The measure of a teacher is the measure of her leadership," Mr. Clifton said. "She must educate for citizenship, must realize and impress upon children that they must attend school for an education and not merely for high grades. In addition she must have respect for the great men of the country and instill in her pupils the same respect and love of fellow countrymen."

Jesse H. Mason, school superintendent, introduced the speaker. The program also included several delightful musical numbers, a piano duet by Misses Helen Atchinson and Wanda McMahan and vocal numbers by Miss Viola Peacock and Ben Gilmore, accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruby Craner. Mrs. Howard Temple was heard in a reading.

Two meetings of the association will be held in May, the one a business session and the other, a social meeting.

Honor Student Chosen To Represent Harding High in Oratorical Contest

Miss Genevieve Stowe To Take Part in Event Here April 20

HARDING High School will be represented in the Marion District finals of the International Oratorical Contest by Miss Genevieve Stowe, a member of the National Honor Society. Her selection was announced today by H. K. Marshall, principal.

Election of Miss Stowe comes as a reward for four years of excellent work. During her high school days Miss Stowe has been an A student. In February she averaged 95.6 in her five studies, leading all other members of the senior class.

In addition to her fairly heavy schedule of school work Miss Stowe is assistant editor of the Quiver annual. Her fifth or elective subject is journalism.

Although Miss Stowe is not a member of the debate team of Harding High School she is rated as a very good public speaker. During her early high school days she took part in girls' club work sponsored by the Extension Department of Ohio State University. One year she was elected on a team from Marion County to demonstrate club work at the Ohio State Fair. Later she assisted in demonstrating the work before a meeting of the Ohio Bankers' Association. She was given the leading role in the Junior Class Play last year.

Seven Entered

With the announcement of Harding High's candidate seven contestants for the finals to be held in The Marion Star Auditorium the night of April 20 have been entered. At least seven others are to be enrolled, a check-up of the territory today disclosed.

The contest here is one of five district meetings being held as preliminaries to the state meeting which is to be staged at Canton on April 27. The event in Ohio is being sponsored by the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.

MISS GENEVIEVE STOWE

The Marion Star as a member of the Brush-Moore group of newspapers is sponsoring the event in the territory which its serves embracing seven counties namely Marion, Morrow, Union, Wyandot, Crawford, Delaware and Hardin.

Two other high schools not in this territory which are closer to Marion than any of the other four districts in which contests are to be held have asked permission to take part here. They are Antwerp High School in Paulding County and Van Wert High High School, in Van Wert County.

Cash Awards Offered

Three cash awards are offered by The Marion Star for the contest here. First place winner will receive $75, second, $30 and third, $25. The winner of first place who will represent the Marion district in the state meeting at Canton will have his or her expenses and those of a companion paid to and from Canton.

Marion's entrant in the state meet will compete with the winners of the other four districts in the state at Canton on April 27. The winner of the state meeting will go to Troy, N. Y., for the zone contest, eight of which are being held throughout the United States. The zone contest winner in addition to being sent to Washington for the national and international meeting will be given a trip to Europe with all expenses paid.

Refuges For Game Covering 5,000 Acres In County To Be Established This Spring

Plans for Increasing Extent of Protected Area from 2,900 Acres Outlined by O. H. Neimeyer, Prospect, District Warden

Game refuges totalling approximately 5,000 acres are to be established in Marion County this spring in connection with a statewide program of wild game propagation and protection, it was announced today.

Plans for increasing the refuge area from its present total of approximately 2,900 acres to 5,000 were outlined today by O. H. Neimeyer of Prospect, district game warden.

Yesterday leases for 695 acres in Pleasant Township, which will be a part of the county's largest game preserve, were filed with the county recorder and others are to be filed Wednesday, Neimeyer said. The Pleasant Township area will total approximately 1,000 acres.

Part of these leases, the warden said, are renewals of parts of the present township refuge, which was established several years ago.

Big Island Tract

Another game preserve is in Big Island Township. It consists of about 800 acres and was established two years ago.

Two other refuges in different parts of the county will be established within the next two months, according to present plans. The probable area of each is to be 1,000 acres.

Neimeyer says that the plan is to have leases filed and the four preserves definitely authorized by the latter part of May.

The leases are negotiated by the game and fish bureau of the State Department of Agriculture through co-operation with land owners. The leases are signed by C. V. Traux, state director of agriculture.

The land owners receive the nominal sum of $1 a year during the period covered by the leases, which run five years. All hunting is prohibited on this land during the lease period, the

NARROWLY ESCAPES SHOWER OF BRICKS

Pedestrian Has Close Call When Section of Coping Crashes to Street

An unidentified pedestrian narrowly escaped a shower of loose bricks shortly before 11 o'clock this morning when a section of coping at the northwest corner of the Grand Theater block let go and crashed to the sidewalk during the heavy rain.

The man had just walked under the marquee over the entrance to the theater when the section of coping crashed to the walk, jagged particles of brick falling in all directions.

Dr. A. J. Willey, who happened to drive up on the east side of State-st just north of the theater was a witness to the man's narrow escape.

It was announced today at the headquarters of Marion Lodge, No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, which owns the building, that arrangements have already been made to repair the damage and examine other parts of the coping to prevent a similar occurrence.

YOUNGEST "LIFER"

Andy Dyken, 15, Starts Terms in Ohio Pen for Murder

Columbus, March 13 — Ohio's youngest "lifer" entered the penitentiary here today at 12:25, when Andy Dyken, 15, Methodist Ridge, Belmont County, arrived with Sheriff Clyde C. Hardesty from St. Clairsville.

Dyken a week ago had pleaded guilty to a second degree murder charge, as the result of the death of his mother, Mary, whom he had fatally shot last fall, when she and her husband had remonstrated with the youth for his non attendance at school.

Dyken will be assigned to assisting Chaplain Hall in the penitentiary library.

BODIES OF 63 RECOVERED BY RAIL COMPANY

208-Foot Wall In California Water System Gives Way; Valley Swept

CAUSE UNDETERMINED

Relief Work and Investigations Hampered by Road and Rail Conditions

Los Angeles, March 13—The bodies of 63 persons, drowned when the 208-foot St. Francis dam, five miles south of Newhall, went out early this morning, have been recovered, the Southern Pacific Railroad reported today. Between 200 and 300 lives were lost in the flood, railroad officials estimated.

All of the recovered bodies were found in the Newhall district at daybreak, reports to the railroad company said.

An unconfirmed report to police headquarters said an airplane flying over the flooded area had sighted eight bodies in a ditch three miles from Saugus.

Work Hampered

Ventura County sheriff's office reported four bodies recovered at Piru, four at Fillmore, and that John Emmett, a resident of Santa Paula, had recovered two bodies near that city.

Relief work and investigations have been seriously hampered by road and rail conditions.

All means of communication by rail, highway, or telephone, between Saugus and Santa Paula are so badly wrecked transportation is impossible.

Ventura County officers are unable to penetrate further than Santa Paula, while Los Angeles officers are stopped at Saugus.

Ranch Under Water

Famed as the home of Ramona, the Camulos Ranch, 10 miles west of Saugus, was reported under three feet of water.

More than 100 frantic Indians, members of Harry Carey's film colony, were driven from the actor's ranch near Saugus when the flood waters crept up a small canyon within a few feet of the camp commissary.

Most of the Indians reached Saugus, while some of the movie Indians joined rescue parties which headed north into the flooded area.

A report from Ventura said officials of the Southern California Edison Co. had been able to account for only 75 of its 175 employes at the company's camp near Piru.

Sweeps Down on Valley

Sweeping homes before it, wrecking communication and carrying out a branch line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, the 38,000 acres of water impounded behind the 208-foot dam, devastated the valley below it, according to reports received at the sheriff's office.

Eyewitness reports received there said the wall of water which swept down the valley was at times 50 feet high and in the broader reaches formed a river two miles wide.

Theories Advanced

The St. Francis Dam was located in San Francisquito Canyon, 45 miles north of Los Angeles and to the north of Newhall and Saugus.

Officials were unable to state the cause of the dam bursting. Three theories were advanced. The first was that an earthquake had caused it to crumble. No earth disturbance was felt, however, by surrounding towns. The second theory was that it might have been dynamited. A water war between the city of Los Angeles and ranchers in another section had resulted previously in dynamiting of the aqueduct leading from Owens Valley. The third was that defects had developed in the dam and caused it to go out.

PROBE CHARGES AGAINST TRUAX

Director Attributes Accusations of Improper Conduct to Political Opponents

Columbus, March 13 — Announcement that an investigation of charges alleging improper personal and official conduct on the part of Charles V. Truax, Bucyrus, state director of agriculture, is being conducted under direction of Gov. Vic Donahey was made today at the governor's office.

Truax today denied that he had been guilty of any misconduct, either personally or as a state official, he attributed the accusations to political opponents who, seemingly, resorted to this method in an effort to prevent Truax from being a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator.

The investigation, it was stated, is being conducted by Jacob A. Markgroth, secretary to the governor, and by C. H. Sisson, Donahey's personal investigator.

The accusations, numberous but, for the most part, of a trivial nature, included charges that Truax had been "indiscreet" with a number of women and that he had kept some of his hogs at the State Fair Grounds here from last October until about the first of this month.

BRITISH FLIER MAY TRY OCEAN FLIGHT

Aviator Hops Off for Unknown Destination; Seeks Endurance Record

London, March 13—Captain W. R. Blatchcliffe, who hopped off from Cranwell Aerodrome at 8:40 o'clock this morning in an attempt to fly the Atlantic passed over Mizen Head, County Cork, Ireland, this afternoon flying in a westerly direction, said a Central News Dispatch from Dublin.

London, March 13—Capt. W. R. Blatchcliffe, British aviator, who hopped off for a west Atlantic flight at Cranwell Aerodrome at 8:40 o'clock this morning, is attempting a Trans-Atlantic flight, according to unconfirmed reports current in London this afternoon.

The Central News announced at 3 p. m. that Blatchcliffe's agent had given as the information that Blatchcliffe was proceeding to fly the Atlantic.

Several days ago Blatchcliffe had announced that he would fly towards Labrador in an effort to break the airplane endurance record now held in Germany.

PENNSY SEEKING TO SPEED SHIPMENTS

Pamphlets Issued Giving Detailed Information on All Through Trains

Intended to prove a great aid in speeding up shipments of package freight, a pamphlet has been issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad giving detailed information on all through trains, according to J. D. Shaner, local freight agent of the road.

Said to be the first publication of its kind, it contains information on all through freight trains operated by the Pennsy system. Fifty-three pages of complete information concerning the point origin and destination of each package car makes a comprehensive service manual for the guidance of shippers and receivers of freight.

Mr. Shaner stated that practically all package freight is carried from Marion to Columbus were it is placed on the company's limited trains. The name, point of origin and destination of each of the trains is given, together with the commodities it carries. Several pages also are devoted to other through, fast freight trains which are regularly scheduled, but to which no special train names have been assigned. As a large majority of the through package cars move in this freight train service, the pamphlet represents practically a complete directory of the Pennsylvania Railroad's preference freight operations.

Specially Assigned

Through package cars are specially assigned cars loaded at given points with miscellaneous, less-than-carload freight shipments, all consigned to the same destination. The cars make a direct through run from point of origin to destination without disturbance to their lading at intermediate stations. This service provides shippers with a much quicker and more efficient means of transporting less-than-carload package freight than is afforded by the regular car movement. The through cars are established when the volume of less-than-carload freight moving between two stations warrants the operation of the special, direct, preference service. More than 5,000 of these package cars are operated daily or tri-weekly on the Pennsylvania Railroad to over a thousand separate destinations.

A list of 38 points on the system, at which reports are compiled daily of passing freight cars, is also printed in the pamphlet to be obtained by the pamphlet for the convenience of patrons. These passing reports are prepared for the purpose of assisting shippers and consignees in tracing their cars.

The new directory of freight service has been prepared and is being distributed by the freight traffic managers of the three operating regions of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and will be furnished upon request by any representative of the freight traffic department.

LAKE-ST PAVING IS CONSIDERED BY CITY

Council Informed Improvement Would Cost Municipality $1,800; No Decision Made

The report of Mayor Earl Hazen for February submitted to City Council at its meeting last night, showed $22 collected in building permits, $10 in licenses and $6.26 in registrations.

Petitions submitted asked for a street light on the extreme end of Kensington-pl and another on Kensington-pl between Center and Church-sts and for the paving of Lake-st from Prospect-st to the east terminus. The former petition was referred to the light committee and the latter to the street and alley committee.

The city's portion of the cost of paving Lake-st would be approximately $1,800, it was stated, due to the 265 feet lining the lake which would have to be paid for by the city.

TO SURFACE STRETCH ON S. PROSPECT-ST

Council Authorizes Legislation To Complete Work at Edge of City

Placing of a top on the concrete base on S. Prospect-st from the end of the present paving to the corporation line, which has come up at regular intervals for discussion before City Council, was given final disposition at the meeting of council last night when City Solicitor George Geran was instructed to prepare legislation for surfacing the street.

This action was taken by council after they had been advised by the solicitor that the cost of the project could be equally divided between the city and abutting property owners. The cost of the improvement, City Engineer Tom S. Cathers said last night, would be about $1.75 per lineal foot.

Put in by the city and county combined, a number of years ago, the concrete base has begun to deteriorate and it was the unanimous belief of council that some action should be taken at once to place a top on the street. While no reference was made to the type of material to be used, it is probable that asphalt will be used in order to make the street uniform.

Periodically for the last three or four years the question of resurfacing the street has come up for discussion at council meetings, but each time the matter was neglected when it appeared to be uncertain just how the cost of the improvement should be assessed. When assured by the city solicitor last night that the cost could be divided evenly between the city and property owners, action was taken at once.

36 Hollywood directors say:

Smooth, exquisite skin is woman's most alluring charm

In the luxurious bathrooms of great stars and in the dressing rooms of the big film companies this soap cares for the skin of the most beautiful women in the world.

"Nothing is more important to a girl than lovely skin. A screen star especially must have rarely exquisite skin, 'Studio Skin.' I take the greatest care of mine—I always use Lux Toilet Soap for it keeps my skin so beautifully smooth that the close-up is no ordeal."

Mary Astor

"A star has to have the smoothest skin in the world—make-up shows so in the close-up. I keep my skin like satin by using Lux Toilet Soap."

Vera Reynolds

The close-up is the cruelest test a woman's skin can meet . . .

FIERCE Klieg lights blazing down, drenching the stars' skin with light—the camera mercilessly recording! Only exquisitely smooth skin—"studio skin"—can defy the cruel lights of the close-up which permit of very little make-up.

Smooth, exquisite skin is essential for popularity, leading motion picture directors declare.

Every star in Hollywood knows that smooth, velvety skin means even more to her than it does to most women—it means her very career. How she guards it! Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap!

It cares for their skin the true French way. For this lovely, white, fragrant soap is made by the method France developed and uses for her finest toilet soaps.

And the great film companies, following their stars' example, have made Lux Toilet Soap the official soap in their studio dressing rooms. Beauty is important in Hollywood!

You, too, will be delighted with the velvety bloom of your skin when Lux Toilet Soap cares for it. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

"Lux Toilet Soap is as fine as costly French soap—it feels delicious to the skin" says GRETA NISSEN (Independent)

"I have used Lux Toilet Soap and find it delightfully pure and refreshing" says BILLIE DOVE (First National)

"Lux Toilet Soap is a great help in keeping skin in perfect condition" says CLARA BOW (Paramount)

"Lux Toilet Soap is a splendid aid in keeping the skin like velvet," says ESTHER RALSTON (Paramount)

Smooth skin essential—a statement representative of leading directors

"The most appealing single beauty a girl can have is certainly exquisitely lovely skin. A screen star, to survive the merciless lights of the close up that permit of practically no make up, must have rarely beautiful skin—'studio skin'. The beauty of her skin distinguishes every star I know."

FLYING "LAB" AT WRIGHT FIELD

Dayton, March 13—Wright Field aviators are submitting a flying laboratory to daily tests, it having been received a few days ago and put in proper flying condition for the trials.

It is a Fokker tri-motored cargo monoplane, the counterpart of the plane which under the guidance of Lieutenants Lester Maitland and Al Hegenberger bored its way to Hawaii. Three such planes were built. The Pacific plane still is in Hawaii and the third is used in experimental work at Washington. The one received here was fitted up as a radio laboratory and is an ideal for such work.

The latest aeronautical instruments have been installed. In the cabin at the rear of the cockpit is the SCR-155 receptacle and an SCR 154 transmitting and receiving set, the standard types used for all sending and receiving purposes during flight. An apparatus just perfected for transmitting messages in code is a part of the equipment. In appearance it is similar to a telephone dial with numbers ranging from 0 to 9 and by means of which a message in code could be broadcast with the person receiving it in numerals and referring to his code book for correct translation.

The cabin is so large and roomy that an experimental work of this character once conducted on the ground now may be carried on in the air.

State Health Department Criticizes City Ordinance Providing Sewer Inspector

F. H. Waring, Chief Engineer, Requests Conference with Officials Here To Discuss Plans Looking Toward Correction of Rock Swale Pollution

Declaring that the ordinance passed by City Council providing for the appointment of a building inspector, was a disappointment to him, F. H. Waring, chief engineer of the State Board of Health, through whose efforts to correct the pollution of Rock Swale ditch, an inspector was appointed, has asked for a meeting of the sewer committee of council and the service director to go over the situation.

Pointing out that while he did not wish to belittle the appointment of a building inspector, believing a city of this size should have such an inspector, the engineer, whose communication was read by City Clerk Keller at the meeting of City Council last night, laments what he terms a secondary consideration of the sewer inspection program.

Says City in Error

A sewer inspector, the state board of health maintains, should give his entire time to that work and he should be technically qualified for the work. It is only in this way, he says, that the work can be accomplished satisfactorily. He also pointed out that the city was in error in placing the inspection in charge of the safety department. The employes of this department know little or nothing about sewers, he charges, and the sewer inspection, at least, should be under the service director.

For this reason Waring has asked for a meeting of the sewer committee and service director at which he will be present. Monday night, March 19 was fixed as the date of the meeting by President Murphy.

What effect the meeting will have, if any, upon the ordinance passed by council creating the office of building and sewer inspector, city officials were unable to say last night.

Kotex Reduces Prices
A few months ago, as a means of winning a million new users for Kotex so as to expedite a nation-wide distribution of the new Improved Kotex, we made a special offer of one box of Kotex free with every two boxes purchased for 98c. This sale is now ended.
So overwhelming was the response to this offer that we doubled our output and are thereby now able to announce a permanent 30% reduction in the regular price of Kotex when sold by the box.
These two exclusive new features have doubled Kotex sales
1 A new, form-fitting shape . . . corners are now scientifically rounded and tapered so that you wear it under the most clinging gowns without possibility of detection, without marring smooth, fashionable lines.
2 It is softer, too—fluffier—eliminating unpleasant chafing and binding.
& . . . RETAINING ALL THE FEATURES AND PROTECTION OF THE KOTEX YOU HAVE ALWAYS KNOWN.

TO meet the immediate and overwhelming response of women to the two exclusive new features of Kotex we have been obliged to double our manufacturing facilities.
This fact and the introduction in our plants of our new, patented machinery enables us to announce, effective today, a reduction of 30% in the regular price at which Kotex will be sold to all drug and dry goods stores.
Before making a permanent reduction in price, and as a means of getting nation-wide distribution of the Improved Kotex, for several months we made a special offer of 2 boxes of Kotex at 98c and one box free.
Now with the assurance of a doubled volume at lower prices, the regular price of single packages of Kotex is reduced 30%. Without this doubled volume the Improved Kotex would have to be sold at higher rather than lower prices.

RARELY is a manufacturer able to offer better goods and lower prices at the same time.
Two years of exacting work in our laboratories by designers and chemists (in cooperation with women doctors) led to the perfection of the Improved Kotex.
With the presentation of the new style Kotex, exclusive in design, comes the most radical development in intimate feminine hygiene since the invention of Kotex itself. The features we have developed are exclusive to Kotex—are found in no other sanitary pad.
What form-fitting means
By a unique process, developed only after months of experiment, corners are now scientifically rounded and tapered so that the pad fits snugly, comfortably, securely. Closest-fitting gowns retain their slim, smooth lines.
This brings a composure, a sense of well-being, heretofore impossible.
Softer—fluffier—chafing eliminated
Now, exclusive methods have been found for making the absorbent filler still softer. Chafing, binding, similar discomforts are eliminated.
27 women doctors, 83 nurses cooperated enthusiastically
During the past two years 27 women doctors, 83 nurses in leading hospitals, in City Health Departments, in Welfare Departments, were consulted. Six specialists in feminine hygiene suggested and approved ideas.
All former advantages retained
The remarkably absorbent powers of Kotex remain; the same protective area is there. MARION MAN RETURNS TO GREECE FOR BRIDE

Peter Pasacos To Sail for Native Land To Wed Childhood Sweetheart

naturalized citizens, for a three-months stay in their native land.

Lodge Arranges Trip

The trip was arranged by the Ahepa Lodge, a national Greek-American secret society, whose membership is limited to natives of Greece who have become naturalized American citizens. The visit to Greece was arranged last year when the lodge held its national convention in Georgia.

While the main purpose of the trip is to give members of the lodge an opportunity to visit their native heaths another object is to acquaint residents of Greece with customs of the United States. It also is designated as a goodwill mission.

Pasacos plans to go straight to Athens where he will meet the girl who has waited for him during the eighteen years of his absence. The wedding is to take place at the home of the girl's parents.

Papers necessary to bring his wife to this country were received yesterday by Mr. Pasacos from Washington.

Pasacos and his bride expect to arrive in Marion in July.

CITY ELATED WITH LEADER PROSPECTS

Marion Savings & Loan Co., and president of the Marion County Chapter Red Cross. "Both personally and as a representative of the Red Cross, I am heartily in accord with any movement that might lead to a better Marion. The plan is, of course, new with much theory, but if the group of men that will comprise the bodies, can show us a better way, we surely will go along with them."

Rev. G. E. Groves, pastor of the Central Christian Church: "I think it will be a very good thing. All of our interests interlap and such an organization will give us the opportunity of learning more about each other."

Mrs. John McNamara, president-elect of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs: "I am more than enthusiastic about the proposition, and there is no reason why it can not be done. Marion needs co-ordination in civic affairs and getting people interested in a movement of this kind can not help bringing results."

Mrs. E. H. Morgan, president of the Parent-Teacher Association:

"It seems to me it is the only solution we have to Marion's situation."

"It was a very wonderful meeting and the plan would seem to me to help materially in solving Marion's problem."

Mrs. Lewis Uhl, president of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs: "There is no reason why Marion can not go forward if organizations get together and pull in one big effort for its betterment. There is nothing materially accomplished when one organization pulls one way and one another, and the co-operation of all individuals and organizations in a big movement of this kind could not help but make for the betterment of Marion as a city."

Dr. James W. McMurray, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 102, American Legion: "Undoubtedly unselfish co-operation is essential and it is perhaps the one thing that Marion has lacked in her efforts to grow to be a real city.

"If the several organizations can lay aside their selfish interests in the desire for a better general situation, much can be accomplished."

SAYS KIDNEYS CLOG AND NEED FLUSHING

Drink Water Freely and Often. Also Take Salts if Back Hurts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

The sisters have not seen each other for 19 years. Mrs. Fox, who is 70 years of age, fell recently, sustaining a broken left shoulder. She also is suffering from a broken hip which she received in a fall more than a year ago. Her condition is reported to be improving.

MELLON SWEARS HE DIDN'T TAKE BONDS

Secretary of Treasury Tells Committee That He Didn't Like Hays Plan

of Montana, opened the questioning of Mellon about the bond deal.

"I had a telephone message from New York from Mr. Hays telling me he was sending me a valuable package and that he was coming to Washington later to see me about it," said Mellon. "I was busy at the time when a messenger brought me the package. I laid it on my table and forgot it when I went home that night. Next morning I opened it and saw it was a package of Liberty Bonds."

"How much was in the package?"

Mellon Nervous

"$50,000 although I didn't count them at the time."

Mellon spoke with a trace of nervousness. He faltered over pronounciation. He said he took the bonds to his home.

"When Mr. Hays explained the transaction to me, I told him I would return the bonds to him," said Mellon. "I later sent them to Mr. Hays in New York through S. Parker Gilbert (former under-secretary of the Treasury) and Mr. Gilbert delivered them to Hays."

Mellon said he didn't examine the bonds "because the purpose stated by Mr. Hays did not suit me."

Walsh asked Mellon to tell how Hays had approached him.

"Hays asked me to take this lot of bonds and hold them and to make a subscription to the (Republican) committee (or the purpose of discharging its hangover debt," Mellon explained.

"I objected to doing so because I would be making a subscription that would not be what it purported to be—a personal subscription."

Mellon said Hays termed it a "loan" to the Republicans, to be secured by the bonds.

"That meant the same thing to me so I declined it," Mellon added.

Promised Subscription

"I told Hays though that I would make a personal subscription. I had expected to make one, so on this occasion I told him I would send him a subscription of $50,000. Some time later I sent a check for $50,000 to Mr. Upham, the treasurer at Chicago."

Mellon said he had given $2,000 to the Republicans during the 1920 campaign. He described a meeting of Republican "master minds" before the 1920 election to discuss the raising of funds by popular subscription. He said each man as to give $2,000, half before the election and half afterwards. This explained his $2,000 gift.

"I was given a quota of $150,000 for the district in which I reside (Pittsburgh). When I got home, I got some gentlemen to organize my district. The quota was over subscribed. I gave $2,000 and so did my brother, my nephew and all others interested. That is all I was solicited for until I became secretary of the Treasury.

"After I was secretary I knew of this deficit and I felt I should give more. I simply put the matter off because I knew I would get an opportunity later and the opportunity came when Mr. Hays talked to me."

"How did Hays get these bonds?"

"He said they had been loaned or subscribed," said Mellon. "He mentioned some large sum—I think $500,000. He said he didn't want to have one contribution recorded for so large an amount and he wanted advances made on the bonds which could be refunded later."

JOSEPH A. RINEHART IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Aged Man Is Buried in Mt. Gilead Cemetery; Ill Five Weeks

Caledonia, March 13—Funeral services for Joseph A. CALEDONIA CHURCH SERVICES POPULAR

Large Congregations Reported at Sunday Services; Repairs Near Completion

Caledonia, March 13—Much interest was shown in the Caledonia church services Sunday morning with enthusiastic young people meetings being conducted at both the Memorial M. P. and Church of Christ. The subject for the Epworth League meeting at the M. E. Church was "Adventures in Christian Living" with Miss Lucile Rinker as leader. This was followed by a sermon on the parable of "The Sower," a continuation of a series of sermons on the parable of Jesus, which Rev. Fancher has been using for his Sunday night discussions. An added feature at the morning service was a vocal solo, "Thank Ou Thy Way" by William Clark. Organ accompaniment was played by Mrs. C. G. Underwood. "The Success or Failure" was the theme for the morning sermon by Rev. Fancher.

The subject for the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Church of Christ, "How Can I Help Others to Follow Jesus," was very interestingly discussed, with Miss Leona Pace as leader. Rev. R. E. Stevens, pastor of the church, used for his morning sermon subject, "Growing in Grace" and for the evening worship, "Who Is My Neighbor?" Two new members were received into the church.

Rev. Samuel G. Ayers of Brooklyn, Mass., addressed the Universalist congregation in the Town Hall Sunday night. Rev. Ayers used as his subject, "What Is Religion?" basing his sermon on Romans 1:15.

An attentive audience including a number from Marion was present to hear Dr. Ayers, who has not only spoken in every state in the union, but has been around the world in the interests of the gospel. He spent five years in Japan following his pastorate of seven years at Cincinnati.

State Superintendent Stanley Staff of Cincinnati and Rev. Armon Cheek, pastor of the local church, assisted in the services. Announcement was made that the local church which is being extensively remodeled, will be sufficiently completed to hold services in the last Sunday of this month.

GAME REFUGES TO BE EXTENDED IN COUNTY

Acreage Will Be Increased to 5,000, District Warden Neimeyer Announces

purpose being to provide a "resting place" for wild game during the hunting season.

All of the Marion County refuges, Neimeyer says, will be stocked with Hungarian partridge. This species of game in states was first introduced in Marion County in 1912 by his father, C. Neimeyer, game warden at that time. The partridges have not multiplied in this locality to any extent, the warden states, but he believes that satisfactory results will be accomplished through the added protection afforded by increased refuge acreage.

Provided By Law

The Kane refuge plan is being worked out under provisions of a state law passed in 1918. That year the first refuge in Ohio was established by Neimeyer in Delaware County which was then included in his district. He now has charge of eight counties in this section of the state and will establish additional refuges in all of the territory.

All leases are for five year periods. Those filed yesterday for the 605 acres in Pleasant Township are as follows: Dr. R. C. M. Lewis farm, 121.02 acres; Leonard R. Hopkins, 220.85 acres; Samuel E. Hopkins, 100 acres; John Gorenflo, 84.5 acres; N. E. Barnhart, 117.08 acres; John Dunbar, 50 acres.

All of the land owners under terms of the lease agree to co-operate with the state game department in preventing hunting and trespassing for protection of all game. The state erects signs and markers conspicuously on all of the acreage to designate it as territory in which hunting is prohibited.

An expedition has started from northern Egypt to study conditions of the sources of the Nile.

STATE OF OHIO, COUNTY OF MARION, ss:

I, L. D. Eachman, Cashier of the aforenamed bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

L. D. EACHMAN, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of March, 1928.
RUSSELL BOWERS, Notary Public.

Correct—Attest:
FRED E. GUTHERY,
J. H. STRELITZ,
A. J. HERRY, Directors.

I had suffered, more or less, for three years, and took enough medicine to start a young drug-store, only to become worse as I grew older. I could no longer do my farm work—not even walk ten rods to the barn. My dear old wife had to do the chores during the severe cold weather, until kind neighbors attended to that—thank the good Lord. I suffered something terribly—no one else can even realize what I endured. I suffered with pain, almost all over my entire body, and especially in the left side, kidneys, arms, neck, and almost choked to death. The doctor "shot" narcotics into my veins every day or night, for almost a week. He finally told me that he could do nothing more for me. Now what was I to do? That was the all important question. I was in despair. My stomach was so acid I took almost a pound of baking soda. For weeks I could barely sleep. I grew worse from day to day. All hope was gone, and I resigned myself to the hands of God. Like a message from heaven, my attention was finally called to the famous Sykodoner—the wonderful new treatment which is creating so much excitement in Marion, now. I lost no time in getting to the Sykodoner Man. That same night I slept sound as a log and ever since. I awoke with all pain and suffering gone; and hushed sound all that day. Two days later I helped my neighbor butcher hogs, and was not even tired that night. Now can you imagine anything so wonderfully delightful to a sick and discouraged sufferer? I think not! My joy has no bounds. I am making this statement voluntarily—was not solicited; for I feel it my moral duty toward my God and my fellowmen, that this grand and glorious Sykodoner work be made known to all. Why, I feel like shouting it from the very housetops. Any one wishing to know more about what this marvelous discovery has done for me, will please not hesitate to call on me."

The proposal of Congressman Dyer, of Missouri, looking to the amendment of the federal constitution by application of the idea of a popular initiative, should be captioned—"A Bill To Wreck the Constitution of the United States."

Here's one by Justice Marcus Kavanagh, of Chicago, worth thinking over: "The most important thing in this world to remember is that there is a God. In a country where the churches are full the prisons are empty; where the churches are empty, the prisons are full." Considering present-day conditions, have we not here from the bench an indictment that people are forgetting in their pursuit of the things of the world, that there is a God?

A Reproach to the City.

Some one has said that, while we may not always honor our dead, we should always exercise care not to dishonor them, for by so doing we dishonor ourselves.

We have often thought of this in connection with the old burial ground just to the north of the railroads and to the east of State street. Its condition is a reproach to Marion. The ground is in wretched shape. Graves from which remains have been taken yawn throughout it. Headstones have fallen over. The careless and indifferent encumber it with unsightly objects, and in the summer and fall weeds abound.

There has been much talk about remedying its condition and some effort in that direction. That there has not been more work done on the ground has been due to a lack of funds. The relatives of most of the dead interred therein have moved away from the city and left the caring for the last resting places of their dead a charge upon our people. It is true, that such should not be the situation, but it is. And now, what are we going to do about it? Is the ground to be permitted to remain a reproach to all of us, or is it to be put into shape?

The proposition is not one of great financial magnitude. It is thought that the work of putting it into shape can be accomplished at an outlay of but little over $300.

The Daughters of the American Revolution have raised among themselves $100. There are many citizens of Marion who could make up the difference and never feel it. We have many fraternal organizations, some of which may be called rich, as fraternal organizations go. If each gave five dollars, the necessary balance would be at hand. We have noon-day clubs which could come mighty near meeting the situation if each of their members gave up the price of his weekly noon-day club meal. We have big industries and prosperous commercial enterprises, each of which could do away with the regrettable condition which prevails, but if each donated but a five-dollar bill to the Daughters of the American Revolution the work of putting the ground into shape would be accomplished. There are many able to give a five-dollar bill and they probably would give if solicited for the money. Why can not they send their checks to the local chapter of the D. A. R.?

There has been a lot in type of late about the beautification of the city, a lot about making the rail and vehicular approaches to the city pleasing to the eye. Along this line does not this old graveyard cry out for attention as much as anything along our railroad rights-of-way?

But above and beyond this last consideration, do we not owe ourselves as citizens a duty to see that the conditions which we have mentioned are corrected? Can we afford not to assist the Daughters of the American Revolution in their praiseworthy plan of putting this old graveyard into shape?

A Marion Forward Movement.

Mr. Grove Patterson's talk to the members of the Rotary club and a number of invited guests at Hotel Harding, Monday noon, was a rather sweeping indictment of Marion and Marion people. True it was delivered in the kindliest, friendliest manner imaginable, yet it was an indictment none the less, and one to which, in very large part, the facts force us to plead guilty.

The luncheon guests of the club were the heads of various local organizations and representatives of our industrial and commercial institutions, and thus when the Toledo Blade editor diagnosed the local ailments—we do not propose to go into them here as they were very fully set out in our news columns Monday—he had as auditors representatives of the influences largely responsible for them.

It is a matter for regret that one can come to us and tell us of so many civic shortcomings from which cities of our size suffer. It is a matter for reproach that we are suffering from practically all of them. But the saddest phase of the situation is that our failings have been so manifest that we must have been conscious of them and yet failed to take action to obviate them.

Yet, despite all this, there is real ground for felicitation over the manner in which Mr. Patterson's indictment was taken by his auditors and their almost instantaneous reaction to it. Hardly had Mr. Patterson concluded his talk before a plan was afoot and action taken to inaugurate a "Marion Forward" movement, a movement in which all classifications of our citizenship will be represented, to employ the treatment recommended by the speaker for the curing of our civic ills. Had the action taken by those assembled been of the perfunctory variety which so often obtains in civic affairs, it would not have impressed us, but so manifest was the enthusiasm for the movement to overcome the ills and correct the evils from which we suffer as to be highly gratifying. At last we have a movement to get away from petty jealousies, from the advancement of selfish interests and from the indifference which in recent years has obtained toward civic affairs and to revive the one-time spirit of "All for One and One for All."

Thomas A. Edison says he doesn't like people who are too good at what they do. What delight Thomas Alva would get out of knowing some of our club whist players!

Now Doris McDonald announces that she is not the wife of the man condemned to die with her up in Montreal for the murder of a taxi driver. Doris is probably laying the foundation for what we so often see called in type a "romance."

Brussels reports that the Edith Cavell film, "Dawn," is inaccurate, stagy and tiresome. That should more than counteract, over here, the boost given it by the British censorship.

Three hundred and fifty persons, sixty of them being women, were arrested in a Toledo night club, Sunday morning, and many bottles of liquor ranging from whisky to distilled benzine were confiscated. We'll have to say this for Toledoans; when they are out for a time, they are mighty liberal in their tastes.

"We have discovered," says the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, "that the idea of God as an unscientific charity organization will not do." Still, Harry, there are an awful lot of people, seemingly, who still labor under that delusion.

The Midwest Farmers' Protective alliance is preparing to fight another $10,000,000 congressional appropriation for a corn borer clean-up unless the measure provides that the greater part of the money thus appropriated be used to pay the farmers for the clean-up work. And why not? Why shouldn't our agriculturist friends come in occasionally for a little of the governmental financial gravy, especially so when they provide the scenes of operation.

During the course of an argument, a New Jersey woman beat up her husband so badly that he had to be taken to a hospital. This equality-of-the-sexes business is actually becoming ultra hazardous to us lords of creation.

The women of Highland Park, Illinois, who for two months have prevented the showing there of a film in which Babe Ruth is shown taking a big chew of tobacco as he grasps his trusty stick, holding that the portrayer of a ball player "eating tobacco" was too indelicate and would not better the morals of the community, have relented and withdrawn their suit in inhibition. The dear old girls certainly do their fair share toward maintaining the batting average of the humor of the day.

Vagrant Verse.

LEAF-LAUGHTER.

Mischievous murmurings I vaguely heard
Beyond the door that holds the key of dreams.
Then wild, wind voices, surging from the sea
Of night, in waves of song, enveloped me.

No rain-drop symphony was there,
For I could see the purple dome
Ablaze with myriad twinkling eyes
That smiled between the swaying boughs
Of naked trees.
On frolicsome, rust-colored, maple leaves,
All ruffled with delight
And powdered with the dust of stars.

They had been cloistered many moons
Within a hovering privet hedge.
Tucked snugly into sleep the winter through,
Now here they were,
Above a sun-room, close at hand,
Their tapping feet no longer envious
Of dainty nymphs,
Disporting in gay chintzes
About the room beneath.

With easy grace they danced, these runaways,
The charming polkas of forgotten days,
Or wheeling, as the wood-winds changed,
The rhythm, and waltzing to the edge of peril.

Leaf laughter is a joyous, lively thing
And blessed are they with ears attuned to hear
These cadences upon the breath of night.

At dawn, I looked for starlight fantasies
There lay the dancers under crystal mounds,
Their faces hidden and their silent feet
And stilled the laughter on their frozen lips
The Ice King came unbidden to the dance,
And left his crest upon the ball room floor
Chintz ladies dance as blithely as before!

Nutrition of First Importance.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

One of the shocking revelations of the World war was the discovery that half the young men in this country were physically unfit for military service.

This discovery upset the nation. It brought home to doctors, teachers, parents and economists, the overwhelming fact that something was radically wrong with the way we bring up our children.

On further examination of the situation, it was found that a large percentage of these disabilities came from certain habits and defects. Most of these could have been remedied in childhood.

In short, the inability of half the young men of America to measure up to the accepted average of good health and sound body, was due to the failure of parents to exercise control over and to apply to their children the simple rules of right living. This is a terrible verdict to render, but it is a verdict founded on the evidence.

No lesson in life is more important than the chapter on nutrition. Unless this lesson is learned and the teaching applied, the child will grow into a weak, sickly, stoop shouldered, flat-chested, knock-kneed adult with bad teeth, catarrh, poor eyesight, low resistance to disease, and possessing every prospect of early death.

I don't tell you these things to frighten you. I do it to make you think.

We are too busy. Everybody is too busy. We never have a chance to think. Somebody must fire off a cannon to attract attention long enough for you to hear a shouted warning that danger lies ahead.

Nutrition is the process by which growth is made possible. It is the process by which wastage is replaced and the body kept in perfect repair.

Nutrition is the most important of the many problems facing the young mother. She is responsible for carrying out the program that will determine the physical fate of her child.

Here is a constant battle. The mother can never be away from the firing line. She must supply the ammunition to keep off the encroachment of disease. It is relentless and never-ending warfare.

From time to time it will be my pleasure to advise the young mother. But do not wait for this advice. Talk with your family doctor. Study a good book on the care of the child. Inform yourself about foods and those simple rules of hygiene which will help to build and develop the child.

Then, dear mother, when you have found out exactly what course to pursue, go forward. Do not permit the whimperings and wailings of the youngster to coax you away from your duty.

There is a difference between tenderness and softness. Do not flatter yourself that you are kind when you yield to the whims of the child. You are the kindest, most tender-hearted and loving when you insist that the child do what is for his good.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

The Prince of Wales shakes hands with a waiter in London. He is very democratic, for a member of the royal family and the next king of England. Being as he is, he preserves peace and delays a change in the form of the British government. The king business is rather played out, but as long as princes are regular fellows nothing will be done about it for a while. Wales is smart.

Some of the most valuable crazy men are those who have taught the world that a lot of "impossible" things could be done. Fortunately there is always somebody just dumb enough not to know something is impossible.

A party has been organized to go into the unknown interior of South America to look for the British explorer Colonel P. H. Fawcett. Colonel Fawcett disappeared in the jungle about three years ago. Not long ago reports came out of the interior that Colonel Fawcett was living in a native village and had expressed his intention of living there the rest of his life. He likes it.

Civilization is a hard master. Or is it conventionality that is a hard master? We won't let people get away with things we don't do ourselves—not if we can help it. Perhaps Colonel Fawcett is perfectly happy, perfectly at peace in his jungle village. Why drag him out?

Dr. George A. Dorsey, who wrote "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," says the influence of women is ninety-nine times as great as that of men. Women are the first teachers of children. In the primary grades children, up to the age of six, absorb practically all social training. Character is formed right there. Men are merely the result of the co-operation or resistance they offer to women's training.

Careless girls—flappers—given little to serious thinking, really ought to think very seriously about the responsibility they must some day bear. Women often make or unmake men—sometimes before the male human being is six and sometimes afterward.

Editorial Comment.

GIVE US A RECLAMATION HOLIDAY.

However opinions may differ as to the form that farm relief should take, there is general agreement that agriculture's present problems are due in large part to unwieldy surpluses of staple crops.

Then why not call a reclamation holiday? Why not a recess in the work of creating additional farms, at government expense, until domestic demand has a chance to catch up with production on the farms that are already here?

For the region where fertile land is still relatively cheap to try to attract new settlers, is sound enough. That is one way of cutting production costs with an eye to increased profits.

But is there anything sound or sensible in taking the tax money of existing farmers and using it to create brand new reclaimed farms, on which other farmers will raise things to depress the profits of the very men who help pay for the reclaiming?

Would American agriculture as a whole, for instance, be helped or hurt by enactment of legislation that now proposes appropriating 150,000,000 of Uncle Sam's dollars to bring into existence thousands of new farms in the Columbia valley? Expenditure of this money would, no doubt, help one or two states in the Pacific Northwest. But the farmers in twenty or more other agricultural states, in addition to helping pay for the work, would be forced to meet new competition in their quest for profitable markets for their own produce.

Reclamation enthusiasts insist that these projects eventually "pay out." In theory, yes. In fact, seldom if ever. Speaking in Washington, Dr. Elwood Mead, United States commissioner of reclamation, said that many of the completed costly government projects are only partly settled today.

And he was speaking to men called together seriously to consider "whether leveling land and building houses is not as much a part of reclamation as building reservoirs and excavating canals."

One government building in Washington rings with demands that relief be given to the farmer who is trying to make profitable the farm plant he has built up for himself. And at the same time another government building in Washington rings with demands that this farmer's tax money be used to build farms that are to compete with him and cut into his income.

Is there any sense in that? Is there any reason why congressmen from every state in the Mississippi valley should not insist on a reclamation holiday?—Minneapolis Journal.

Astronomy Not Decadent.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

A Chicago reader writes me: "I have put my children through college, and none of them studied astronomy. Is it a decadent science? I studied astronomy in college over forty years ago, and it was only a short course and we had no globe or any other instruments."

I suppose that in the colleges that have no classes in astronomy it is assumed that the students have been taught all they need of such unpractical a science in the preparatory and high schools. But the other day I was told of a high school in which no astronomy was taught, even in that name—if any thought whatever was given to the subject—it must have been assumed that the primary schools had done the business. But the indications are the same for the primary schools. In them, it is perhaps assumed that the children get the notion in astronomy at home, or take it from nature, as they learn to play.

It all comes back to the question of the value of astronomy as a factor in people's life. Except in certain applications to navigation and surveying, astronomy, as a science, makes no appeal to the practical minded person who aims in life is at wealth and its concomitant enjoyments. The pursuit of astronomy is as pure an intellectual exercise as can be named. The majority are not fond of pure intellectual exercise. They may regard those who are with respect, sometimes with reverence, but never with emulation.

If the study of astronomy led to a money-making profession or career, there would be no neglect of it in formal education. My own experience accords with that of my correspondent in that I, too, recognize in colleges and other schools a relative falling-off in the attention paid to astronomical studies.

"There's no money in that," says the worldly-minded man. "The world is getting richer, and I want my son to learn the things that will help him get his share. Astronomy won't help him."

And when Dives takes that view of it, the school turn the cold shoulder to astronomy. It is turned out to join the despised classics, Greek and Latin, in their almost hopeless search for some place where they can still stand a little in the shine of the great education sun.

"Culture," contemptuously exclaims the "go-getter." "What's culture? It's knowing how to get the banks, that's my idea. And what have the stars to do with that?"

Not much, it must be confessed; but—"ad astra per aspera"—to the stars through the bars of the good state of Kansas stoutly proclaims on its official seal. Though all schools and colleges and universities in the land should turn astronomy from their doors, the unguided minds of the people would continue to find delight and consolation in the contemplation of the starry universe. The healing and strengthening influence of that ineffable celestial pageant was the same in the days of the Chaldean shepherds and the Egyptian pyramid builders that it is today.

"Practical" science enables man to hear his own voice around the globe, and pluck a thousand melodies, played or sung, in a hundred lands out of the circumambient air; it makes him lord of the air and suzerain to the eagle and the condor in their own realm, flying over mountains and across oceans, in defiance of height and depth and of cloud and storm, rolling back time itself as triumphantly he circles the sphere—but the stars are undisturbed by such petty feats on so miniscule a speck of dust; Vega regards them not, nor Arcturus, nor the Pleiades in their awful flight through the cosmos. These glories are terrestrial only and their fame and wonder are confined to the earth. The great center of limitless energy are in orbs like Canopus, blazing 10,000 times brighter than the sun, or in the globular star clusters that outshine the little earth-lighting sun a millionfold. Surely, the science that can bring such thoughts to the wondering mind has no need of college halls which are not great enough to contain it.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

And Now Switzerland.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

St. Moritz, March 13—This winter resort, 6,000 high in the Swiss Alps, is eighteen hours from Paris and nestles in a bowl of snow. Here one breakfasts in the open on the hotel portico and so clear and windless is the air there is no discomfort.

You see people sitting in the snow reading newspapers as comfortably as they would on a Long Island lawn in mid-summer. The snow is like so much silver dust—dry and blinding. It never melts in winter, although the sun is warm enough for a good coat of tan.

The most perfect hotel service is found. The Swiss are noted innkeepers. The great Cesare Ritz began his career here. No flunkey meets you at the station. The proprietor himself is there with that dignified obeisance that spells hospitality.

If you leave at 4 a. m. he is up to say farewell and wave you out of sight. The servants seem to be living solely for your comfort. They work only during the season and for five months a year are on vacation with full pay. The inns range from the magnificent Palace to small pensions dotting the hills.

There are several streets of smart shops filled with Paris creations. Life here can be peaceful and quiet or fast and furious as you desire. The bar at the Palace, for instance, closes at 2 in the evening, but opens again at 2 a. m. for the after midnight revelers. And they revel plenty.

The Swiss are great linguists. They have no language of their own and so all—even the children—speak German, French, Italian and English as naturally as other folk speak their native tongue. They are simple and hospitable folk and you instantly like them.

The thin balmy air has a strange exhilaration. It bites and lifts with the savour of champagne. You step out into the dazzling snow with its canopy of silver skies and feel an urge to grab an Alpenstock and scale the Matterhorn. You understand why they yodel here. You want to yodel yourself.

230 American Millionaires of 1927 to Step Up to U. S. Pay Window Thursday to Settle; 13 to 15 Must Report $5,000,000

Estimates Made by Treasury Department as First Installment Is Due

SLIGHT INCREASE

Is Believed Result of Successful Period Enjoyed by Big Corporations

Washington, March 13—Two and a half million Americans will step up to Uncle Sam's cash counter Thursday and leave from $475,000,000 to $500,000,000 as the first installment of their 1928 income taxes.

In this group will be about 230 individuals whose incomes in 1927 exceeded $1,000,000, while there will be from 13 to 15 who gathered in more than $5,000,000, for their year's thinking and sound investing.

These estimates were made today by Treasury Department experts for the International News Service.

There were 228 millionaire incomes in 1926, as reflected by taxes collected in 1927, according to official statistics to be issued soon by the bureau of internal revenue. Officials estimate the slight increase for last year's incomes because of the successful period enjoyed by most of the big corporations whose dividends go to make up the principal portion of the larger incomes.

Will Disclose Prosperity

Secretary Mellon always has maintained that within certain limitations tax reductions would release vast sums tied up in exempt securities, to productive enterprise which might be taxed by the federal government.

The amount of the tax return this year will disclose definitely the state of prosperity enjoyed by the United States last year and will have an important bearing upon whether or not Congress will be justified in making another tax reduction. If economy is explored in appropriating public moneys and if the March returns reach expectations, officials felt that a cut of not to exceed $225,000,000 would be justified.

Returns must be filed by all single persons who earn over $2,000 and by married persons making over $5,000. Nearly 1,000,000 corporations will make returns although many of them do not file on a calendar year basis.

He Coughed For Two Years

After coughing for two years almost continuously and losing much sleep, a man of considerable means got thin and tired and worn out, made his will and was ready to quit the big game of life.

A friend spoke to him about Bronchuline Emulsion—a REAL medicine—and now life to him is very sweet indeed.

Tough old coughs—persistent coughs—coughs that hang on and rob people of their sleep—coughs that die hard and wear you down—those are the kind of coughs that Bronchuline Emulsion likes to tackle.

Many times such coughs linger after the grippe or a heavy cold, and if you have one or know of anyone who has one that won't yield, keep Bronchuline Emulsion in mind.

It isn't just a cheap sweet cough syrup—it's the best cough remedy—and the best is never cheap. Henney & Cooper sell lots of it, so do up to date dealers everywhere. A couple of doses is enough to stop an ordinary cough.—Adv.

If after using Allenrhu Number 2 Capsules as directed for 5 days there is a pain or ache left—if you are not free from rheumatic distress your money will be promptly refunded without comment.—Adv.

All the Crowleys told ... was that you had brought Miss ... to stay with them, and had gone ... Singapore. And they wouldn't ... me that if I hadn't seen her ... house, and they sort of had to introduce me. There wasn't any reason why they should tell me anything. I never knew them before, and they never knew me. They had no call to trust me with confidences just because I said I was a friend of old Tom. They were pretty tight-mouthed, figuring, I take it, to keep your affairs to themselves; but they said I'd find you in Singapore if I wanted to see you. Son, I wasn't more'n 24 hours behind you in reaching Kalawa, and you can figure for yourself from that how long it took me to make up my mind to follow you here to Singapore. So back I went to the Iola, and, as I said, just as I was getting under way, off Miss Lyle comes. She said she had realized that she had made a great mistake in landing at Kalawa at all, and——"

"She said that!" Bob Kingsley flung out ironically.

"Yes, she did!" Captain Scarface retorted defiantly. 'And boy—you damn fool!—I wish I was 30 years younger! Likewise, she said it was imperative that she got to Singapore without another hour's loss of time. She didn't say why, except that it meant everything to her that——"

"The reason is fairly obvious," Bob Kingsley interrupted again, but this time with a wry smile. "To charge Black Bob Kingsley with the murder of Colonel Robert Lyle."

"Listen, lad," said Captain Scarface and screwed up his features into a friendly scowl, "I called you names a minute ago, but they ain't hard enough. Hell's bells and a barrel of monkeys, you don't know anything about women! And least of all about handling 'em! Ten days you had her aboard this schooner here. And what did you do? Bah! Sure, I heard her story coming over from Kalawa—every last word of it except why she wanted to get here so mighty bad. She was mum about that. But, it wasn't to make any charge against you. She could have written one of those letters you were talking about, without leaving Kalawa, and I'd have brought it along without knowing the difference, if that was what she was after. No, son, it ain't nothing like that. I ain't taking all the credit to myself, for I guess she heard a lot about you in Kalawa that opened her eyes; but she heard a lot more from an old fool called Scarface Sweeney, and kind of liked the sound of it too, I fancy, on the run over in the Iola. She ain't so set as she was on calling Black Bob Kingsley a murderer." Captain Scarface began to chuckle. "What was that yarn about the lifeboat on the Monotah?"

"Shut up!" said Bob Kingsley savagely; and then eagerly: "Do you mean all this—literally?"

"Aye, lad, I mean it," replied Captain Scarface seriously. "If you're ever accused of murdering Colonel Lyle, it won't be by his sister."

For a moment Bob Kingsley was silent. When he spoke again his voice was husky.

"Where is she now?" he asked.

"At her home, I suppose, wherever that may be in Singapore," Captain Scarface answered. "I put her ashore before coming over to you. She wouldn't have me go any farther with her."

Again Bob Kingsley was silent for a moment; and then, abruptly:

"How did you happen to go to Kalawa in the first place?"

"Made up my mind I was going to from the time I picked up Tom dead in that boat, and figured he'd been murdered," Captain Scarface replied, a rasp creeping into his voice. "The cruise I was on after I touched at Momboa and left the letter and things with Hawk Griswold didn't last as long as I'd counted on, and I put in at Kalawa on the way back. I wanted to get what information I could first hand—but I didn't get much. And coming back to Crowley, the only reason I went to see him at all was because I heard on landing that he was the first white man on the scene at Tom's house after the attack upon it."

"I see!" said Bob Kingsley.

"Well, that's about all I've got to tell." Captain Scarface squinted at the setting sun—and then glanced questioningly at Bob Kingsley. "There ain't much daylight left," he observed, "and if I'm to pull out, I'd better be going."

Bob Kingsley's hand went to the other's shoulder.

"Yes," he agreed; "we've about got to the bottom of our yarns, and I think you ought to push off at once—for even with good weather it'll take you somewhere around four days to make Lula."

Captain Scarface nodded—and together they walked to the schooner's rail.

"North End. One-half mile from creek to crumbled hillside. Due west 50 paces from burnt tree," Said Captain Scarface in a lowered voice. "Is that it?"

"That's it," said Bob Kingsley. "But perhaps I'd better write it down for you?"

"Taint necessary," said Captain Scarface. "I just wanted to be certain I'd got it straight."

"That's it," reepated Bob Kingsley.

Captain Scarface swung himself half over the rail—and paused.

"I ain't sure I'm doing right about this—going off and leaving you here," he muttered dubiously.

"You're doing the one thing I'd rather you'd do than any other," declared Bob Kingsley earnestly; "the one thing it would help a lot to know was all right if everything else went wrong. And on top of that, as I told you, I don't see where you could do a bit of good here."

"Right you are, then!" assented Captain Scarface, though the dubious note still lingered in his voice. "I ain't going to argue it over again." He lowered himself into his waiting dinghy. "But you take care of yourself, lad! Then yellow rats are tricky, and they can bite deep."

"I will!" promised Bob Kingsley grimly; and then almost to himself: "I've a lot more reason to want to live now than I had before."

"What d'ye say?" inquired Captain Scarface.

"I said you needn't worry about me looking out for my own hide," smiled Bob Kingsley. "So long! Good luck!"

The boat was pulling away from the schooner's side.

"Don't you crowd on too much sail, lad!" bawled Captain Scarface. "I'm sore disappointed now; but I ain't going to be gone long, and I'm still counting on getting in on the showdown!"

Bob Kingsley waved his hand.

"Right-o!" he shouted back.

He watched the boat disappear amongst the shipping; and then, turning away from the rail, he began to pace up and down the deck, back and forth-interminably.

FEELS AS WELL NOW AS HE DID 20 YEARS AGO

88 Year Old Man Tells How Konjola Benefited His Rundown System

MR. WENDEL MANGOLD

"I am a man of 88 and in all my life I have never seen or heard of a medicine that can do what Konjola has done in my case," said Mr. Mendel Hangold, 83 South 12th St., Kenmore, Ohio, (near Akron.)

"My kidneys were in a terrible condition. I could not rest at night and three or four hours of sleep was about all I could get. I had to get up five or six times during the night and in the morning I would feel sore and achy all over. Poor blood circulation caused a feeling of numbness over my body, especially in the legs. My stomach was always giving me trouble and my liver was dull and inactive.

"I didn't think any medicine would help me at my age, but Konjola soon cleansed all the poisons from my system and now I feel as well as I did 20 years ago. All my health troubles are gone and my whole system seems to have been invigorated. I am glad to indorse Konjola."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sams Drugstore, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

Preferred!

If you can't decide whether you like blondes or brunettes best, here's a bit of evidence that'll help you make up your mind. Artists love to paint her blonde beauty and theater-goers rave over it. She's Elsa Cover, of 650 West 173rd St., New York City.

"When people tell me how much they admire my hair," she says, "I'm always happy to tell them what I do to keep it soft and gleamy. It's really no trouble. All I do is put a few dashes of Danderine on my brush each time I use it. That's the way nearly every really smart girl I know is doing here. My hair doesn't need shampooing more than once a month, now. My scalp feels better than it ever has felt.. It has gotten rid of all my dandruff, and it makes my hair easy to dress and holds it in position."

Danderine is not oily. It removes the oily film from each strand and restores the natural color and lustre. It dissolves the dandruff, cleanses and invigorates the scalp. It is delightfully fragranced. The big bottles are just 35c at all drug stores. Smooth, gleaming healthy hair for a few cents.—Adv.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver causes poisons to seep through the system. Health vanishes and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their yellow color. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

MISS LINCOLN WEARS LOCKET

LILLIAN'S admonition to keep my eyes wide open whenever Eleanor Lincoln was with me, troubled me much in the week following our beach picnic. For the girl was so tractable, so genuinely anxious to please me every time she came for a lesson that the thought of watching her for possible clues to the mystery which enveloped her, was most distasteful to me. I only reconciled myself to the espionage by the thought of the danger in which I was sure the girl stood.

That she was intensely worried about something, anyone in observation could have seen. Several times I caught her looking at me with such unconscious appeal in her face that I had hard work to keep from asking her what was the matter. I knew however, that such a query would be fatal to my hope of eventually gaining her confidence. She was like a wary bird which alights near a potential friend, but is ready to take wing again at the slightest movement.

Her terror showed itself in increasing nervousness of speech and action. But more than anything else I noticed a peculiar and increasingly frequent movement of her hand toward a curiously wrought and slender chain of gold which she habitually wore about her throat and from which pendants changed almost every day were suspended. If she wore a green dress, an exquisitely fashioned jade ornament would depend from the chain; if her costume were blue, there would appear a pendant set with uncut sapphires; while a scarlet dress would bring out a beautiful thing of garnets, or a filagree ornament set with a single ruby. There semed no end to the ornaments, but the chain was always the same and I noticed that at the point where it joined the pendant it was triply fashioned. A first I thought this was for extra safety, but I finally came to the startling conclusion that underneath her bodice there was a second pendant fastened to the same delicate chain by links unseen, and that this hidden ornament was the object of the girl's constant solicitude.

I reported my conclusions to Lillian, and saw in her eyes the quick gleam which spells intense interest.

"If she ever loses that thing, Madge, you look it over before you give it back to her," she directed. "If you have a chance, let me see it. No puritan scruples, remember. I forgot how to be a perfect lady when I entered the secret diplomatic service, and I can't let my friends be nicer Netties than I am. Besides it'll be a hundred to one shot that we'll be saving the girl from something pretty bad if we can find out what really is back of all this tommyrot. I've got a hunch that it's a life and death game the poor little fool is playing."

Her manner was even more impressive than her words, and I resolved to put aside my scruples and watch for the opportunity to examine the ornament which I was sure lay hidden near Eleanor Lincoln's heart.

The chance came more suddenly than I thought. She came into the library one morning when it was so cold and rainy—an occasional Long Island Summer phenomenon—that I saw her shivering and advised her to keep on her scarf and coat until I could have a fire built in the grate. But before Jim, whom I summoned immediately, could get the fire built, the telephone rang, and the next minute Katie ran down the hall and burst wildly into the room.

"Missis Lincoln, Misses Lincoln!" she was calling as she ran. "Dot Meesis Ticer she say your auntie she dying, you must coom qveeck!"

Miss Lincoln put her hand up to her throat and clutched her scarf, tearing it away as if she were choking.

"Oh—oh! My poor Anna!" she wailed. "I have killed you with my folly."

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TUESDAY, and it's two months and a half to vacation. I told that to Dalbone when we woke up this morning and he held his head on one side and looked at me like he wanted to eat me now some. I guess the reason men are old is because they had to wait so long for vacation to come when they were children. That is enough to make anyone old.

When I had to go downstairs for the rope in his room this morning and was out in the barn asking almost the whole bunch was there, and the Lost Bag of Tripe had the rubber bag off of an old fashioned auto horn, and when I asked the crook for it he said he was going to do something with it.

We went down the creek to get some willows to make whistles with on the way to school, and we all made whistles, and we marched around the school playing tunes on them till the bell rang. All at once while we were studying Africa someone blew his whistle and everyone jumped and sot up and everyone looked at everyone else.

The teacher looked around but didn't say anything, and we all started studying again, and the whistle blew again. Then she began and asked every boy in the room if he had a whistle, and we all gave her our whistles, and then the whistle blew again louder than ever, and we all looked at everyone else and the teacher looked at all of us, and the Lost Bag of Tripe was the only one that kept on studying and didn't look around. And when the teacher had looked at all of us she looked at him for a minute and then she kinda grinned and said: "You may fetch it here, Hennery," and I never did see anyone look any more scairt than him. He reached down and got it and took it to her.

He had made a big willow whistle and stuck the end of it in the rubber thing off an auto horn, and had put it on the floor under his desk and every once in a while he would step on it and whistle it. The teacher told him to stand in the corner with his back to the school and she would tend to im at recess.

him at recess.

When we got out at recess the teacher and see that we didn't get in any fights with the other rooms, and Nibs hit the Lost Bag of Tripe in the neck with a sponge full of ink. That's how sorry everyone is for him when he gets in trouble. He was staying after school when it let out.

One our our cows got out and went to the pasture, and I had to go after it. My grandfather said that is a sign of spring. And when he went out in the kitchen where my mother was scrubbing and sot down in a wooden chair the seat of which was full of soapsuds he said that was another. I like robins better.

HEALTH HINTS For Parents

The wise mother gives little heed to "diets" for her growing boy or girl, and worries not at all about their bowels. A little fig syrup gives all the help, and has none of the harm that's found in habit forming laxatives.

Have you a boy or girl whose food doesn't seem to nourish as it should? Let them eat the same things, and just treat them to a daily spoonful of this rich, fruity syrup, watch them gain in weight, see how their cheeks fill out and how appetite and assimilation improve! And a few drops will do remarkable things for an ailing infant. California Fig Syrup is a purely vegetable product, so parents need have no hesitancy in giving it to infants.

California Fig Syrup is not expensive; all dealers charge but sixty cents for a generous bottle. Just make certain that it is the California product; say "California" in asking for it.

Try California Fig Syrup two weeks on any child, and let his altered appearance and actions tell the full story.—Adv.

"BABY FACE" BANDIT IS ELECTROCUTED

Goes to Death with Eyes on Crucifix Held by Prison Priest

Boston, March 13—Calm to the very end, Herbert J. Gleason, 21, known as the "baby face bandit," was electrocuted at Charlestown State Prison today for first degree murder.

Within six minutes after being strapped in the electric chair he was pronounced dead at 12:06 a. m.

Watching a crucifix held in the hand of Rev. Father Michael J. Murphy, prison chaplain, young Gleason repeated prayers recited by Father Murphy and continued until Warden William Hendry signalled to Executioner Robert Elliott to turn on the current.

Taking the crucifix from the chaplain, Gleason touched it to his lips, saying "My Lord and my God into Thy hands I commend my spirit." There was but one shock of electric current applied.

Thus the rosy-cheeked youth who killed James Monagle, a South Medford storekeeper, in the first and only holdup of his life paid the supreme penalty. District Attorney Robert O. Bushnell declared at the young man's trial that he sought "gun, jazz, janes and jack."

SPECIAL SERVICES TO PRECEDE EASTER

Series of Union Meetings Will Follow in Mt. Gilead Churches

Mt. Gilead, March 13—There will be meetings in the M. E. Church during the week between Palm Sunday and Easter Sunday according to an announcement by Rev. J. C. Smith, pastor. Immediately following Easter Sunday, the series of Union Services will begin. These services have met with approval hitherto and steadily gained footing. The Union Services are so arranged that each pastor seldom preaches in his own church, but from the pulpit of another church.

"Life's Best Investment" was the topic chosen by Rev. J. C. Smith for his morning sermon Sunday in the M. E. Church. In the evening, following Epworth League, which was conducted by William Crayne, Rev. Smith chose "One More Plague."

Rev. Daniel Hamill, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, continued with his series of sermons under the general topic of "The Seven Words From the Cross" in the morning. The text was taken from the words "Woman Behold Thy Son; Son Behold Thy Mother." This series includes seven sermons which are being given the seven Sundays before Easter. In the evening service, Rev. Hamill selected "Seven Churches of Revelations" for his topic.

"Burned at the Stake and Why" was the topic of the sermon chosen by Rev. P. E. Miller of the First Baptist Church for Sunday morning's service. A sermon on "Opening the Eyes of the Blind" was given in the evening services. In the Sunday School hour, the subject of "Christ Feeding the Multitude With What We Have" was discussed. In the Young People's meeting, the topic of "What Do Missionaries Do" was discussed.

Rev. Samuel G. Agnes of Massachusetts conducted the morning services in the Universalist Church. In the evening services, Rev. Sara L. Stoner, pastor, discussed "The Putting Away of Childish Things."

W. R. Ellis, pastor of the Pleasant Grove Church of Christ preached on the subject, "How To Win Men To Christ" in the morning services. In the evening his topic was "How the Missionary Work of the Church Began." Wednesday night prayer meeting will be held in the home of Mr and Mrs. Ralph Rule.

FAST WORK

Bucyrus, March 13—Raid, arrest, fine and release within an hour was a result of the fast work of the chief of police and mayor yesterday when George Schwab's residence was searched and found to contain one quart of "evidence" with many empty bottles. Schwab was arrested, arraigned before Mayor Arthur Schuler, pleaded guilty, sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and was released when he handed the mayor a $100 gold note, five $20 bills and $8.30 costs.

CALVARY REVIVAL

Rev. E. Radebaugh Preaches Before Large Congregation

"Christ stands between us and God as our intercessor, our lawyer, pleading for us that we may be kept from the world. He is praying for four things for us—our preservation, separation, sanctification and service," said Rev. E. Radebaugh, pastor in his sermon at the exceptionally well-attended revival service last night at Calvary Evangelical Church.

"We have two enemies to combat, the world and Satan, and sometimes they almost overcome us, but someone is praying for us and in the end we are victorious. The world watches the Christian and if we don't walk straight it is noticed. As Christ's representatives here we can not do as the world does, and keep our Christian experience."

A song service was in charge of E. W. Harruff, assistant song leader, and prayers were offered by Mrs. C. W. Shearer and Mrs. George Orians. There was one conversion.

All members of the congregation were requested to offer a prayer for the revival at some time during the noon hour, 12 to 1 o'clock. An all-day prayer service will be held Wednesday and prayer meetings preceding the regular service each night, it was announced.

REVIVAL SERVICES

Mansfield Pastor Preaches Sermon at Central Christian Church

Before an unusually large congregation last night at Central Christian Church, Rev. J. J. Tisdall, pastor of the Christian Church at Mansfield and an evangelist of wide reputation, gave the second of his sermons in a revival series here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Tuckerman of Huntington, W. Va., arrived here from Youngstown to take charge of music and personal work of the campaign. A feature of the service last night was their vocal duet, "Take Up Thy Cross." This afternoon Mrs. Tuckerman will conduct a Bible drill and song service, at the church.

"To Whom Shall We Go?" was the subject of Reverend Tisdall's sermon last night. He said in part: "Men can not live without a guide.....the greatest human minds are not sufficient. We must therefore find a teacher who is divine. Mankind must pass through their Gethsemanes. In deep troubles, sorrows and death we need consolation, that is more than human, we need Christ."

"You may go to the God of wealth, of pleasure, of honor, of position," he continued, "but these all pass away, leaving nothing but husks. To whom then shall we go but to the Christ?"

Reverend Tisdall will speak at the service tonight on the subject, "Paralyzed."

TRIAL HERE CLOSES WITHOUT DECISION

Hearing Ends in Suit of Chicago Concern Against Marion Man

Hearing of a suit brought by Julius Bauer & Co. of Chicago against Ralph McQuillen, Schoenlaubert resident, ended without a decision yesterday following questioning of McQuillen before Judge Scofield.

The proceeding was one of unusual features. McQuillen, according to the testimony, ordered a piano from Bauer & Co., a Chicago concern, agreeing to pay $1,625 for it. The piano was delivered to his home here without the company taking a mortgage or obtaining any other security.

McQuillen, who gives his occupation as salesman, failed to pay and the Chicago company brought suit. Several weeks ago a writ of attachment was issued but when officers went to serve it, the piano was not at the McQuillen home.

On the witness stand yesterday, he testified that he had disposed of the piano to a woman in Greenwich, O., receiving in exchange a note which he had given her for a loan of $350 and four diamond rings, worth $100 each. The rings, he stated, he pawned for $150.

Would Deed Home

McQuillen said that he is willing to deed his home on Schoenlaub-et to Bauer & Co. to settle their claim against him. Alfred Donithen, attorney for the company, states, however, that the property is mortgaged in excess of its value and that its sale would leave nothing to apply on the piano account.

McQuillen came into court yesterday after being cited to appear and explain why the piano was not available for attachment. He said that tactics used by the Chicago company were offensive to him and led to his decision to dispose of the piano.

Donithen was attorney for Bauer & Co. in yesterday's proceedings and Fred W. Warner appeared for McQuillen.

Appraisal Finished

Appraisers appointed to fix the value of real estate owned by E. H. Cr[illegible] who made an assignment last week, have completed their report and it was to be filed today in Probate Court. The property consists of 15 tracts, 13 in Marion and two in Galion. The appraisers are William J. Gerson, Carl W. Snoke and John M. Schneider. Alfred Donithen is the assignee.

Granted Leave To Plead

In the damage suit of Reagan Patterson against J. T. Wiles the defendant has been granted leave to plead by April 14.

Marriage License

A marriage license has been issued to Harry Best, 21, Alloy Cast Steel Co. employe, Delaware, and Lucile Green, 23, Marion.

Goes To Florida

Hoke Donithen, of the law firm of Donithen & Donithen, has gone to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., to take depositions in a pending court proceeding. He expects to return the latter part of the week.

Eddie Mack's hot bed of cauliflower ears from Toledo will blossom out here Monday night when the Marion Eagles stage the next boxing show at their hall, W. Center-st.

Twenty rounds of fighting with a battle royal curtain raiser will be offered by the Eagles' promotor as the local lodge present their second show of the season.

The main go should be quite interesting with more experienced boys being booked. Harold Knopp of Toledo and Clyde Tremaine of Columbus are slated to go eight rounds at 128 pounds.

Tremaine is a ring favorite with Marion fans having fought here four times. He is a favorite and goes exceptionally well. Although losing, he gave a good account of himself in an eight round fight at the Ft. Hayes arena at Columbus last Friday night against Phil O'Dowd.

Mack's ballyhoo of Knopp has a tendency to place his fighter on an equal plane with Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey or some other immortal of the ring. He has defeated such boxers as Johnny Posky, Soldier Dombrouski and Charlie Lupica. He fought Johnny Gerry, Marion boy, to a draw at Findlay.

Ray Snyder will endeavor to maintain his high standing in the semi-final bout when he faces Sailor Baldwin, another of Eddie's sluggers, for six rounds. Snyder is a local boy rather handy with his dukes. Baldwin has participated in 12 fights winning all but one which was called a draw.

Most fans remember Harold Williams, Marion boy, who has appeared on a number of cards here in the past. Williams has been fighting in Indiana and has shown considerable improvement since his last fight here. He will meet Louie Haynes of Toledo in the second preliminary. His opponent is a Hungarian boy with something like 40 amateur fights under his belt.

The first preliminary should take well with fans here. It will be in the form of a battle royal with five colored boxers from Toledo slated to take part.

In Stockholm one may enjoy all the winter sports, with the sole exception of the exciting pastime of racing in the akja, or light Lapp sleigh, drawn by a reindeer, which is confined to the northern resorts of Sweden.

BREAKS RECORD

Sabin Carr, Yale athlete, creates a new world's indoor record for the pole vault by clearing the bar at 14 feet and 1 inch at New York. Carr himself held the former mark, which was six inches less.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN WILL MEET AGOSTA

Take Steps To Decide Tie in Marion County Church League

First steps towards settling the championship of the Marion County Sunday School League will be taken tonight when Agosta and Central Christian plays on the lower floor at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock.

The winner of this game will play Thursday night against Trinity Baptist. These three teams were tied for the league leadership at the close of the last half.

After the title for the second round is decided, the crown for the entire season will be settled when the wiuner of Thursday night's game plays Epworth Friday night. Epworth won the first half.

INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE WILL PLAY GAMES ON FRIDAY

Contests in the Marion Industrial Basketball League will be played Friday night. The games were postponed from Monday night by officials owing to interest in a tournament in Columbus. The Friday night contests will end the season.

In many parts of Sweden the conditions are incomparable for ski-ing. In the far north the districts are rarely penetrated by visitors in winter, but nothing could excel the vats snowfields that are, in many cases, untrodden except by the native nomadic Lapps.

ANGLERS GET FISHIN' FEVER

THE fishin' bee, or bug, or whatever it is that permeates the atmosphere at this season of the year has begun to circulate in the necks of the Isaac Walton clan in Marion County.

Fish are beginning to bite. This joyous bit of news developed last week and immediately resulted in local anglers getting out their equipment to see that it is in shape for the season's activities.

Applicants for fishermen's licenses are beginning to appear at the county clerk's office and are expected to increase in numbers as weather conditions continue favorable. Last year about 700 licenses were issued from the local office, most of them during the spring months.

The first report of catches for this season came last week from the river district at O'Shaughnessey's dam near Columbus, where anglers getting an early start announced that they had landed some crappies.

All fishermen using reels are required to obtain licenses, which sell for $1.10 each in the counties where the applicants reside. Non-residents must pay $2.25. This provides them with fishing credentials for an entire year.

No licenses are required for persons under 18 years of age or for those who do their fishing on property which they own or rent. Those who use no reel in their angling operations are also exempt from license regulations.

Open seasons are as follows: June 16 to April 30: black bass, 11 inches; calico or strawberry bass or crappies, six inches; bass on the inland lakes district, July 15 to May 24, bass in the Lake Erie district.

April 15 to Sept. 30: brook trout, speckled trout, New York or brown trout, landlocked salmon or California salmon.

There is no closed season for all other species of fish.

Bag limits are: black bass, 12; rock bass or blue gills, 25; calico or strawberry bass and crappies, 40. Minimum lengths: black bass, 11 inches; calico or strawberry bass or crappies, six inches.

STAR OUTFIELD TO DOPE OUT PROBLEM OF PLAYING BERTHS

Mack Says Athletics Have Sound Team; Trys To Keep Peace

(Note—This is seventh of a series of articles by Davis J. Walsh, dealing with developments in various major league training camps. Other articles of the series will follow.)

B DAVIS J. WALSH

Fort Myers, Fla., March 13—Well, it seems there were three men in a boat, if Berton Braley will only pardon me, and they got along so famously that when they lost their oars they all agreed to let the shad row, which reminds me of the fact that Connie Mack also told a good one today. It was about three men in his outfield and the fact that there would be no clash of interests involving Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and Al Simmons, prima donnas all.

This trio represents approximately $100,000 worth of outfielding temperament and between one thing and another, mostly the latter, they might be expected from time to time to regard one another slightly askance or maybe askew. But Mr. Mack said today they wouldn't. It seems that he has solved the problem of pleasing everybody and affronting none by the simple expedient of letting Cobb, Speaker and Simmons go into a huddle to decide amicably just which of the three fields they prefer to adorn.

"Speaker already has informed me that he stands ready to play left field, if Simmons prefers to remain in center," Mr. Mack said. "However, this is something they will have to settle among themselves. All of them are fine outfielders and fully capable of playing any of the three fields, so any alignment they agree upon will be all right with me."

Rather Have Peace

Frankly, he probably has his own preferences but, at that, it is likely he has decided he would rather have peace in the family than Speaker in center field.

This, if true, takes care of Speaker and Simmons. But Cobb is yet to be placated. He hasn't appeared in camp yet, having been given permission to remain in Augusta until late this week.

The fact of the matter is that Cobb doesn't want to play right field. This isn' mere caprice. He feels that he can give a much smoother performance in center, an idea that was more or less sustained in 1927. He proved a poor right fielder but a good man in center.

Let Nature Take Course

However, as Mr. Mack claims, this isn't a problem he faces. In fact, he has no problems. The outfit is just as sound as it was last year, which means there is really nothing to be done except to let nature take its course. The Athletics had a good club then; they probably have a better one now.

Connie cites four reasons why he thinks this is so, the first is Speaker.

"This stilll is a great ball player," he says, with the fervor of a zealot. "There isn't use of going into details. It is obvious that we can't go wrong on him."

Reason number 2 is the fact that pennant talk is strictly taboo at this either end of the peninsula. At least that is that understanding. Maybe the bootlegger comes around on Saturday night with a brief case full of idle gossip, just off the boat, but officially all talk of pennants is out like an ex-window.

Hauser Will Come Back

Reason No. 3 is the fact that Joe Hauser, according to Connie has proved beyond all argument, that he can and will come back as a first baseman. No. 4 takes cognizance of a slow curve Bob Grove is alleged to have added to his fast ball.

Otherwise, the Athletics are much the same ball club. Hauser, a fine first baseman a few years ago, now is said to look better than ever.

Jimmy Dykes is being considered in the light of a utility first baseman, also a utility third baseman in case Sammy Hale, the Texan, fails to click. Another two way utility man is Jimmy Fox. He is third catcher, also third first baseman and third third baseman, which probably means that he will get in a ball game at least once a month.

Collins Is No More

The keystone pair are Max Bishop, the Baltimorean, and Joe Boley, of Mahanoy City. Edward Trowbridge Collins is no more, except as a coach and pinch hitter. This was the infield personnel that Cornelius announced yesterday but today he became maudlin over the embryonic ability he had discerned in Joe Hassler infielder from Fort Smith, Ark., and Waterbury, Conn.

Cobb, Speaker and Simmons form the regular outfield with Walter French, Moorestown, N. J., and Edmund "Bing" Miller, of Vinton, Iowa, as reserves. That means the Dewitt Lebourveau, the much tried-and-found-wanting Placerville, Calif., outfielder, is going far, far away again. So is George Haas, up from Atlanta.

Gordon Cochrane and Ralph Perkins are the other regular catchers, in addition to Fox.

They are equally strong in pitching with Howard Ehmke and Ed Rommel going particularly well at this moment. The rest of the big shots are Grove, "Jing" Johnson, Bethelehem, Pa., Ossie Orwell, the American Association star left hander and hitter; Jack Quinn, the ancient salivary gland; George Walberg, who has it in him to be the best left hander in the league; and old Joe Bush, back again where he started many years ago. Two more will be selected from among Claude Jonnard, up again from Milwaukee; Bob Potter, a left handed semi-pro; Lyons, another back lot pick-up, and Bill Shores, from Yaco and Lloyd Powers, Hancock, Md., left handers. Powers, Lyons and Shores are leading the way in the juvenile stakes.

Saturday's Record Still High In Foul Tournament

JOHN CANBURY, Forest Lawn school student, was high among last night's entries in The Star's foul shooting tournament with his total of 11 points.

However, the record set by Albert Chaney Saturday still stands as high and will rest safely until Wednesday night when the tournament will be resumed again. No shooting is scheduled for tonight.

Throughout the balance of this week contestants, who have not participated in the first two rounds, will take part. A professional basketball of the hidden lace style is being offered to the winner. No entry fees are charged.

Following are scores made last night: King Crissinger, 9; Edward Dutt, 10; Roy Beaver, 5; Don Schearer, 5; John Canbury, 11; George Mason, 8; Robert McCurdy, 4; John Vestal, 2; Carlos Hill, 7; Robert Garster, 9; Curtis Frazier, 5.

Kitzbuhel lies at an altitude of between 2,000 and 3,000 feet in the Austrian Tyrol.

RISKO BETTER THAN SHARKEY IN BATTLE AT MADISON SQUARE

Heeney May Fight Winner; Bout Fails To Produce Challenger

New York, March 13—Tex Rickard's gold-lined heavyweight elimination tournament has now been tied down to the point where honest Tom Heeney, the New Zealand blacksmith, and Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker, must fight it out for the privilege of being named as Gene Tunney's next challenger.

The prospect of this match producing an outstanding contender is now so remote that the heavyweight champion may be compelled to forego his plan to defend the title next June and be content with one fight this year.

Indeed Tunney may not even bob up with a million dollar customer for next September unless some candidate now hiding his light under a bushel bursts forth with a decisive victory over one of the cast in Rickard's heavyweight stock company.

Tex this morning scanned the list of available spring dates at Madison Square Garden and his two outdoor arenas for a spot where he can edge in Heeney and Risko for the purpose of developing a June contender. He admits the outlook is none too good, but hopes to stage the bout in the Garden early in May.

Risko and his manager, Danny Dunn, claim precedence on the grounds that Risko has eliminated the man who filed the first challenge here against Tunney this year.

Last night's affair was a disappointment from all angles except that of the Risko supporters who took the short end of the betting at prices ranging from 5 to 12 to 1 to 3 and cleaned up.

Sharkey found the Cleveland baker boy a rough customer at close quarters and after carrying five of the first six rounds bogged down and muddled through until the closing period.

Five Were Close

The writers score gave Sharkey six clear rounds and Risko four. Five could have been called either way.

The shrinkage of gate receipts reflected a lack of interest probably due to the recent artistic flop of the Heeney-Delaney engagement which cost old John Q. Public something like $173,000.

The cash customers last night numbered only 10,943 and the net receipts were $100,901.

Sharkey and Risko will get about $25,000 each for a bout that will never be remembered as a classic of the ring.

A greatly improved Risko faced Sharkey this time. The crude rusher who was cuffed into a comic valentine by the Bostonian two years ago was bigger and stronger than Sharkey last night and has learned how to make good fighters look bad.

He mauled and elbowed Sharkey this time, kept piling in on him and never stopped throwing punches although Jack directed a murderous fire at his body in nearly every round.

The decision of the officials was not unanimous, however. George Kelly, one of the judges, cast his vote for Sharkey. Stewart Douglas, the other judge, and referee Kid McPartland declared for Risko.

There were no knockdowns but in the tenth round Sharkey slipped on the wet canvas in Risko's corner and squatted. He was endeavoring to slip out of the corner when the upset came. Risko, rushing in to pin him to the ropes, could not stop a left hook that struck Sharkey on the cheek while he was down.

Jack flashed a look of indignant surprise. He jumped up and tore into Johnny for a few seconds. At the bell Risko was doubled up from the effect of several sound wallops to the pit of the stomach.

Sharkey did not cross his right with full effect until the final round when he jarred Risko with two shots to the "button." His uppercutting was good for a few rounds and not so good later. Jack's best work was his two-handed attacks to the body.

UMPIRE NOW

Dolly Stark of New York has just been appointed an umpire by the National League. His appointment to such a post in the majors without minor league experience is said to establish a precedent.

TO PROBE DEATH OF PEARL BECK, 44

Brother Enlists Aid of Officials in Attempt To Clean Up Mystery

Services of experts at the state department of health have been enlisted to clear up mystery surrounding the death of Pearl Beck, 44, which occurred here March 8, authorities stated today.

At the request of relatives of Beck, who suspect that he may have been the victim of foul play, his stomach and contents have been sent to the state department's laboratory for analysis. A report is expected within a few days.

The stomach was taken to Columbus last Saturday by Dr. Robert McMurray, who, with Coroner B. O. Osborn of Waldo conducted an autopsy over the body.

Dr. Osborn stated today that he has held up his verdict pending receipt of a report from the state department of health.

He states that it has been impossible thus far to determine the cause of death. A blood clot was found in Beck's heart and should the stomach analysis show no evidence of poison, the clot will probably be designated as the cause of his demise.

Two local physicians called in at the time of Becks death refused to sign the death certificate because of circumstances which made it impossible to determine the cause, the coroner says.

Formal request for a thorough investigation was made to Prosecuting Attorney Wiedemann by W. S. Beck of Morral, brother of the dead man.

The brother states that when Beck came to Marion from his home in Morral about a week prior to his death he had several hundred dollars in his possession. Only a few dollars were found among his effects following his death.

Beck passed away at the rooming house of Eva Kenyon, 227 N. Main-st, the afternoon of March 8. Mrs. Kenyon found him in a critical condition and called in a physician but Beck was beyond hope when the doctor arrived. Mrs. Kenyon stated that the man became ill the day before his death.

Beck, who was 44 years of age, was a brickmason.

A bottle, containing a small quantity of liquor was found in Beck's room at the time of his death, local police reported.

Beck's funeral was held at Morral Sunday and burial took place at Grand Prairie Cemetery.

Radio Gives Bears Bad Break

New York, March 13—Marshalling their strongest forces behind Radio Corporation, International Nickel and a number of the over-sold motor stocks the bulls in the stock market (star administered severe punishment to the bears in one of the most active and spectacular trading sessions ever witnessed on the big board.

An overnight jump of 21 1-2 points in Radio to a record high price of 160 a share, for a block of 230,000 shares of stock, was evidence aplenty of the extremely awkward position into which the bears had placed themselves by their ill-advised short selling of the stock in the latter part of February. Covering their short contracts today was like passing through the neck of a bottle, without even having free access to the narrow neck.

Though officials of the corporation disclaim knowledge of any special developments that would account for a 70-point rise in the stock in a little more than a week, Radio was the kingpin for all speculative interest today, and the bears, who had little choice in the matter, were compelled to buy the stock regardless of cost. Though the stock exchange authorities have made little progress in their examination of the technical market position of the stock, the bears needed little evidence that a "corner" existed in Radio, and that no "free and open market" existed.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, March 13 — Wheat prices averaged higher yesterday following a strong start, due to firmness of the Liverpool market. Locals pressed the selling on all the upturns, but commission houses absorbed the surplus on the dips. A late rally on the strength in corn put closing prices near the highs to register net advances of ⅝@⅞c. March finished at $1.36¾, May $1.36⅝, July $1.34¾, and September $1.33.

Corn had a nervous tone following Saturday's liquidation, and prices fluctuated rapidly in a range of 1⅛@1⅜c. With the exception of a substantial increase in the visible news was mainly of a constructive nature. Short covering caused the late rally and closing prices were at the high points, showing net gains of ⅝@⅞c with March at 94⅝c, May 97⅝, July $1.00⅛ and September $1.01½.

Cash interests and houses with eastern connections were good buyers of oats and that market was firm, closing ⅝@1¼c higher. The offerings came mainly from locals. Higher wheat prices and reports of excellent export inquiry gave strength to the rye futures, which finished ⅝@1c higher.

New Crop Damage

Increasing numbers of complaints from Ohio Valley states, telling of damage to the new crop, and the forecast for colder weather over the belt brought early buying of wheat and the market was up sharply at the opening. Liverpool was due unchanged to ⅝d lower, but opened ⅝@½d higher and closed ⅛@⅝d up, giving further impetus to the upturn in the local market.

Pressure, mainly of a local character, developed on the market at the higher levels. Commission houses and local bulls absorbed the offerings on all the dips, holding prices in a comparatively narrow range. Additional rains over the dry Southwest caused some of the selling.

Cash Trade Light

Seaboard advised of only a moderate demand for wheat for export over the week-end and no figures were given. Cash wheat trade was light, as the bulk of the 69 cars of arrivals were on previous contracts. The basis was changed to 1-2c easier, the latest for hard grades. Milling inquiry was good, both here and at Winnipeg, but sales, 5,000 bu. Minneapolis and Duluth shipments totaled 82,000 bu.

World's wheat shipments next week are expected at 10,000,000 bu., and showed an increase of nearly 2,000,000 bu. over a week ago. Receipts, chiefly of wheat on passage were 1,000,000 bu. less than a week ago. United Kingdom arrivals were 6 ships larger. North American shipments were 2,000,000 bu. larger than a week ago and 600,000 bu. larger than a year ago.

Visible supply figures were about as expected, showing a moderate decrease of wheat supplies. The decrease was 1,500,000 bu. with the total 80,940,000 bu. as compared with 82,478,000 bu. a year ago. Canadian visible stocks decreased 1,000 bu. to a total of 90,296,000 bu., compared with 71,149,000 bu. a year ago.

Futures prices at Winnipeg averaged higher opening 1-4@1-2c up, and closing 1-4@3-4c hig

QUQUA DITCH WORK TO COST CITY $700

Estimate of Work Presented to City Council by George T. Geran

The city's portion of the cost of rebuilding and enlarging Ququa Ditch through the city property south and east of Marion Cemetery was presented to City Council at its meeting last night by City Solictor George T. Geran, as $700. No objection to the amount was made by council.

The ditch, which will be enlarged to 30 inches, extends for 200 feet along the city land south of the cemetery and the extension which is being planned and which will cost $450 will go north along the line of the cemetery and then east to the Durfee property. The ditch will drain the land in the vicinity of south-east Marion and will become a valuable outlet, it is said, for a new trunk line storm water sewer, which it is expected will be built sometime in the eastern part of the city.

Council also authorized the service director to advertise for bids for a new seven-foot road scraper. According to Service Director O. A. Benedict the present scraper, which is too light for the work demanded, is practically useless.

REDWOOD'S "TEPEE" IS A WONDERFUL SPRING TONIC

At This Season of the Year Everybody Should Take Something To Purify and Thin Their Blood

In the spring everybody should take a tonic to thin and purify their blood. Your system requires it. For this purpose there is nothing better than Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic.

REDWOOD

Mrs. Joseph Wirenhafer, 4244 W. 21st St., Cleveland, O., says: "I saw Redwood's Tonic advertised for a long time and as my health was poor I decided to try it.

"Before I took it I was nervous at night and couldn't sleep soundly. I would roll and toss in bed half the night and get up in the morning feeling all tired out.

"I didn't have much of an appetite and what little I ate soured on my stomach. After taking only one bottle of Redwood's Tepee Herb Tonic I felt better than I had for a long time. My nerves were stronger and I could sleep sounder.

"Now when I get up in the morning I am rested. My housework seems easier. I have a good appetite and my food agrees with me."

Tepee Herb Tonic is sold by Bradley's, Heuney & Cooper's, Wm. M. Stump, Bartlett's and all drug stores; Richwood, H. D. Kyle and Lower's Drug Stores and by all well stocked drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

THREE BOYS PAROLED DURING LAST MINUTE

Trio of Happy Youngsters Returned to Marion from Lancaster School

Three Marion boys sentenced to the State Industrial School at Lancaster on truancy charges were given last-minute paroles yesterday after they had been taken to the state institution and were preparing to begin serving their terms.

As a result, three happy youngsters were brought back to Marion last night and permitted to return to their homes, where they will remain on probation. Decision to suspend their sentences was made by Judge McNeal of the juvenile court yesterday after the parents had agreed to be responsible for the boys' behavior in the future.

The boys are Allen Campbell, 15, who resides on the Harding Highway, a short distance west of the city, Ellis Williams, 16, Gay-st, and Paul Eymon, 14, Thompson-st.

They ran away from home on Feb. 22 and were not found until about a week ago, when they landed in the custody of authorities at Richmond, Va. They were practically penniless when taken by officials there and readily disclosed their identity. Local juvenile officials were notified and the boys were brought back to Marion by Juvenile Officer V. H. Aller and his wife.

They informed the court that their original plan was to go to Florida Their transportation had been on freight trains and "thumbed" rides in automobiles.

The three were taken to Lancaster yesterday by Officer Aller, who received notice shortly after his arrival at the Industrial School that the sentences had been suspended.

HINDOO RITES ARE PERFORMED ON GIRL

Nancy Ann Miller, American, Takes First Steps in New Faith

London, March 13—To the accompaniment of mystic oriental rites and bedecked in ceremonial Indian attire, Miss Nancy Ann Miller, of Seattle, Wash., fiancee of Tukojira Holkar, former maharajah of Indore, underwent the first part of her conversion to the Hindoo faith at Nasik, India, this morning.

Miss Miller is the second American woman in all history to renounce Christianity for the Hindoo faith. Her conversion is the prelude to her marriage to the Indian prince.

The ceremonies, said an Exchange telegraph dispatch from Bombay, took place upon the bank of the sacred River Godevari.

The American girl had been tutored in the rites of conversion and showed the strain under which she has been laboring while rival priestly factions fought over the advisability of admitting her to Hindooism.

A priest inscribed the convert's brow with a sacred mark after which she lighted the ceremonial fire with splinters from a sacred bough.
